Objective

The main objective is to initiate and strengthen the regional connections between researchers, engineers and industrial partners coming from the Adria – Danube region in the combustion field of solid, liquid and gaseous fuels.

The ADCM is an informal meeting providing a forum for the presentation of new results and previous achievements from both basic and applied combustion science and combustion technology. Subjects that are expected to be presented include: fire research, biofuels, combustion systems, burners, incineration, fluid dynamics, engines, flame diagnostics, environmental aspects, modelling, reaction kinetics, reaction mechanisms, and more.
